The International Journal of Risk & Safety in Medicine

Dear Dr Margolin,

We are pleased to inform you that your work has been accepted for publication in The International Journal of Risk & Safety in Medicine.

IOS Press has institutional publication deals with selected universities. You can check on iospress.com/open-access-institutional-agreements if your article applies. If so, the order form does not need to be filled in unless there are optional print orders, which are not included in these deals.

Your paper will shortly be sent to the publisher's typesetting office. After the paper has been typeset, you will be informed by e-mail and asked to proofread the final copy.

For information about optional Open Access for your article, please see the journal website for pricing information, and contact openaccess@sagepub.com if you would like to request Open Access or have any further questions.

This journal offers colour figures at a charge, if you would like to have any of your figures or images printed in colour, please let the Production team know.
